ATTN: Avengers Recruits
RE: S.T.A.T.I.O.N. BRIEF

Congratulations, Avengers Recruits. Your diligent work made it possible for us to identify the Chitauri as the organism buried deep beneath the sea. We are sending our field agents to the site to further investigate how it got there, and how we can ensure that it will not pose a threat to anyone. We suspect that it was a rogue Chitauri that broke through the Avengers' defenses during the Battle of New York. If this is the case, it is most likely offline, and disconnected from their main neural link network.

Your success in the previous mission has gained you access to the Avengers S.T.A.T.I.O.N. - Scientific Training and Tactical Intelligence Operative Network. This high-level facility is only open to Avengers recruits with great potential, such as yourself. You will see and experience scientific wonders that very few people have even dreamed of. During this experience, we will also provide you with a scanning device that you will use to uncover the classified information we've obtained about our world and worlds beyond. We trust that you will take this important knowledge and use it responsibly.

We will see you at the Avengers S.T.A.T.I.O.N. shortly. Safe travels.
